In Response
To The Editor, Sir

Anent the circumlocutory melange by Mr. John P. Sheffield in your columns of Wednesday, March 9, I am reminded of the famed British statesman Disraeli's reference to a critic as a sophistical rhetorician, inebriated by the exuberance of his own verbosity.

JOE EISENHAUER